October Stated Meeting

Wed, Oct 14th, 7:30 pm
Boise Masonic Center - Westgate

Potentate's Message by Ill Sir Dave Brannan

Ill Sir Dave with Fezzee at Salt Lake Walk for Love

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve as your Potentate in 2026. It has been an enjoyable year with great participation from our Nobles in our events, activities and parades.

The "Racing to Help Kids" Fundraiser donated $2,886 to Shriners Children's Clinic Salt Lake – Camp Un-Limb-ited. Additional funds raised during the remainder of the year will be donated to Shriners Children's Hospital in Portland. The following fundraising efforts will continue to raise funds:

The Potentate's Coin Sales to Raise Money for the Racing to Help Kids fundraiser.

Boise Brewing will brew a special beer for December and donate $1 per beer served to the Racing to Help Kids fundraiser.

We hosted a booth August 21–30 at the Western Idaho Fair in Boise where we provided information and awareness for El Korah Shriners to fair attendees. We have several interested men that we will be contacting about membership. Several former Shriners Children's Patients and family members stopped by to thank us for what we do to help Shriners Children's. Thank you to Chief Rabban Bruce Drewes, Ill Sir Ric Bobier and his Lady Tandy, Ill Sir Joe Randal and his Lady Norma, and Ambassador Ray Aas for taking shifts to help with the booth.

Two BSU Football Game Watch Parties have been held with great participation. Shriners and their ladies, Masons and their ladies, and guests enjoyed the games.

The Shriners Children's Salt Lake City Walk for Love was a great event with around 950 participants that included 22 from El Korah and Iras Temple Daughters of the Nile.

I am sad to report that we had to cancel the Fall Ceremonial because we only have a couple of Candidates. They will either go through a Cold Sands Ceremony later this year or wait until the 2027 Spring Ceremonial.

Idaho Grand Lodge was September 17–19 in Moscow. Thank you to Chief Rabban Bruce Drewes for attending in my absence while I was in Salt Lake City for the Board of Governors meeting and the Walk for Love.

Upcoming Stated Meetings:

Oct 14th – Past Potentate's Night

Nov 11th – Chief Rabban Night
(Veterans Day)

Dec 9th – Elections

Other Events:

Weekly BSU Football Game Watch Parties – look for info coming out on Constant Contact

Oct 30th – Oyster Feed at Scottish Rite Center

Nov 22nd – E/W Shrine Football Banquet at Middleton High School

Nov 27th – E/W Shrine Football Game at Middleton High School

Dec 6th (Sunday) – All Masonic Christmas Party at Boise Masonic Center - Westgate

Red Fez Lunches:

Oct 24th – Twin Falls at Milners Gate Pub

Oct 30th – Idaho Falls (Tentative)

Nov 21st – Boise at Boise Brewing

Shaping the Stone

A recent Short Talk Bulletin offered a meaningful reminder of one of the great purposes of Freemasonry: self-examination and self-improvement, from the writings of Worshipful Brother Victor Magnus.

From our earliest lessons, Masons are reminded that each of us is a work in progress. The Entered Apprentice is introduced to the common gavel as a tool used by the operative mason to break off the rough and superfluous parts of the stone, preparing it for the hands of the builder.

As speculative Masons and Shriners, we understand that we are that stone. So perhaps the question for each of us is this: What are the rough edges in my own life that still need some work?

This question requires something from us — an honest look inward and a willingness to recognize those things we might rather overlook. Think of every strike of the gavel as a choice. Perhaps we are running late and find ourselves behind someone driving ten miles per hour under the speed limit. Our first reaction may be frustration. But maybe there is something in that moment worth chiseling away. Perhaps the lesson revealed underneath is patience.

Perhaps the 24-inch gauge has something to teach us as well: Could we have managed our time differently so that we weren't in such a hurry in the first place? The rough edges aren't always dramatic. Pride can cloud our judgment. Anger can disrupt harmony. Dishonesty can erode trust. Selfishness can distance us from the people who matter most. These are within our power to change.

Then there are the superfluities, the excesses and distractions that quietly consume our time and attention. Our phones, television, games, sports, entertainment, and countless other distractions aren't necessarily bad things. But when they begin taking time away from our families, our Brothers, our communities, or the things that give our lives purpose, perhaps another tap of the gavel is needed.

Each of us must decide for ourselves what needs shaping. And therein lies an important lesson: the work is never finished. Becoming a better man isn't accomplished in a day, a year, or even after receiving our degrees. It is the work of an entire lifetime. We continually shape the stone, one choice, one action, and sometimes one small correction at a time.

As Shriners, we have wonderful opportunities to put that work into practice. Every act of kindness, every hour spent serving others, every hand extended to a Brother, and every effort made on behalf of the children and families we serve can reveal a little more of the man we strive to become. May we continue to use the tools we've been given — not merely to knock away the rough edges, but to allow the great tenets of our fraternity to shine through: Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth.

And perhaps, as we go about the work of shaping our own stone, we can remember one simple piece of advice: Be kind and say nice things.

Reflections on the Fall Season

by Bruce Drewes, Chief Rabban

A Season for Reflection

As El Korah moves into the fall season, I find myself reflecting on years past. I think about how blessed I have been—both on my Masonic path and in my life with my wife, friends, and the many people who have shaped my journey. As I look back on the roads and rivers I have traveled, one beacon has continued to guide my steps: friendship.

Lessons from the River

In more than seventy years, I have traveled many rivers by rubber raft across California, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, and Alaska. Most of those journeys were multiday trips, and each one taught me something different. I have started trips in hot, dry conditions only to face snow and freezing temperatures before they ended. I have floated in low water and in high, dangerous water. The river can become unforgiving when we forget where we are and who is truly in control.

When the Beacon Shone Brightest

That beacon shone brightest on a cold spring day when three good friends and I were on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, approaching a rapid called Rubber. The river was high—about 6.7 feet—and the water was cold, near 40 degrees. As we began to enter the rapid, another raft came up behind us.

That raft carried three college-aged young men who were in over their heads and did not yet realize it. Because the day felt warm, they had taken off their wetsuits and laid them on the bow. When their raft flipped, everything went into the water—including the young men and their wetsuits.

At that moment, the people with me jumped into action. In just a few minutes, those young men went from enjoying a warm day on the river to fighting the effects of cold water. Hypothermia was quickly setting in. Working together, we got them out of the water and built a fire to warm them. If we had not known what to do—or if no one had been there—the outcome could have been tragic.

Paddling Together

I have been blessed by the beacon of friendship and by people around me who share common goals and values. That is why the phrase “Paddle Together” means so much. We reach our goals not by drifting alone, but by pulling together in the same direction.

In El Korah Shrine, only one person serves as Potentate, but the raft must be paddled by all of its members. To navigate the river we are in today, we need the involvement and commitment of our whole Masonic community.

Every organization within our Masonic family encounters the rocks of membership and involvement. We can guide our organizations through turbulent waters when we:

- » focus on the open water ahead rather than the rocks in our way;
- » work together with clear purpose and shared responsibility; and
- » keep our attention on success, service, and the path forward.

If we paddle together, we have a far better chance of passing safely through the rough water and reaching the destination we are called to serve.

Upper Snake River/Tin Lizzies Shrine Club

by Noble David Stonhill,

Not Such a Basket Case Anymore

If you missed the earlier Desert Dust article about our little “basket case” fire truck, I’ve got some great updates to share. What started out as a pretty rough, but surprisingly complete, collection of parts has slowly but surely started looking like a fire truck again!

After carefully piecing everything back together and removing many of the modifications that had accumulated over the years, the fire truck is now looking much more like its original design. It’s amazing how much difference it makes when you take away the things that never belonged there in the first place.

Fire Truck is almost Parade Ready

There have also been a few Amazon deliveries along the way—because apparently no restoration project is complete without a few packages showing up on the doorstep. With those parts in hand and the remaining work coming together, we’re getting very close to the point where we can fire her up and take her for a short test drive right there in the driveway.

It may not sound like much, but for a truck that was once described as a “basket case”, getting to the driveway under her own power will be a pretty big milestone!

The Fire Truck won’t quite be ready for the Eastern Idaho State Fair parade coming up on Labor Day weekend but the club expects to have at least five other cars entered in the parade. Hopefully, the Fire Truck can join the rest of the unit’s collection of unique cars in one of the later parades this year.

The club recently participated in its first parades in the small communities of Challis and Clayton. It turned out to be a great match—a small town and a small unit, both with big ambitions and big plans for the future.

So, while the Fire Truck may have started out as a “basket case”, she’s definitely looking less like one these days. There’s still some work ahead, disassembly, body work and paint, - and we’re looking forward to sharing its parade debut with everyone!

USR/Tin Lizzies SC Rolls Through Eastern Idaho State Fair Parade!

by Noble David Stonhill

The USR Tin Lizzies were out in force for the Eastern Idaho State Fair Parade in Blackfoot with five cars proudly representing the Shrine and our Blue Lodges.

The day started early, with our judging lineup at 8:00 am and the parade kicking off at 10:00. Our Nobles arrived early to secure our spots, give the cars a final shine, and get ready to represent. The Tin Lizzies were a hit as they rolled through the parade, showcasing the fun, fellowship, and Masonic spirit of our organization.

The cars have already been opening doors and creating opportunities. Earlier in the week, Noble Craig Bowles and I took one of the Tin Lizzies to the Eagle Rock Lodge meeting and let a couple of members take it for a spin around the parking lot. We came away with one petition, a Sojourner interested in affiliating, and a couple of EAs/FCs interested in getting involved after completing their Master Mason degree.

It was another great outing for the Tin Lizzies—and a great reminder that these cars are more than just fun to drive. They're a great way to get out, meet people, promote the Shrine and our Blue Lodges, and build fellowship along the way!

El Korah Night at the Boise Hawks

by Jason Morales, Assistant Rabban

For weeks that led to the game, the summer heat had been brutal, and smoke gave the Treasure Valley the worst air quality I've experienced in my 25 years living here. Yet on the evening of August 13 — which we had chosen months earlier for El Korah Night at the Boise Hawks — the temperature simmered down to the mid-80s, the skies cleared, and cool breezes swept through the Coors Light Pavilion.

To kick the game off, our own Noble Jorge Castaneda, a professional opera singer, actor and prolific artist, sang the National Anthem, while Past Potentates Ric Bobier and Bert Miller of the Black Light Patrol presented the Colors on the field.

Chief Rabban Bruce Drewes initiated this event by getting it scheduled and handling coordination with the Hawks. The turnout made it all worthwhile. His Lady Jerri brought her characteristic sweet energy and smiles and invited her daughter Sage to bring her artisan boyfriend along.

Noble Harlow Kibbey and his darling Pete Nealis brought seven people from her family. High Priest and Prophet Danny Harkins and his Lady Danna drove in from Jerome with family friends they invited. Todd Millican, who is not himself a Shriner but is a Past Venerable Master of Boise Valley Scottish Rite, and his wife Jeen joined us thanks to a personal invitation from Captain of the Guard Len LaTour. As always, it was great to see Oriental Guide DW Forrester and his Lady Sally; as well, Potentate's Aide Steve Safar-Fashandi and his Lady Colene, who captured pictures from the evening that are shared here.

It was special to host an event that accommodated kids and I was thrilled to have my sons join. Steve Sackman brought his twins, Lucas and Marcus, young members of the Treasure Valley Chapter of Idaho DeMolay, along with another DeMolay family they invited. And alongside Nobles from El Korah and Brethren from Capital City Lodge No. 93 and Boise Lodge No. 2, El Korah Admin Assistant Victoria Schweigert sponsored the family of a local Shriner kid, Sebastian, to attend.

The evening was a success because members extended personal invitations, through calls and texts, one at a time. Every ticket represented a relationship and the extra effort to reach out.

As for the game itself, the Hawks jumped out to an early five-run lead and then had to earn the victory from there. RedPocket Mobiles clawed back through the middle innings and pushed three across in the ninth before the Hawks closed it out, 11 to 8.

For those who like the numbers: the evening was run at cost, not as a fundraiser — $30 for adults and $15 for children, covering the ticket and the meal. Sixty tickets sold, over $1,700 collected and fully reconciled, nothing left outstanding. No raffle, no donation asks, no merchandise table. Just a night out with your Shrine family, priced at what it cost.

To everyone who could not make it and told us so kindly — thank you as well. Several of you sent notes that meant a great deal, and several good conversations came out of an invitation to a ballgame. It was a great success, and we plan to do it again in 2027. I hope all of you can join us next year.

Our meeting on November 2nd will be our Honored Ladies Night. It will be held at the Boise Masonic Center and we are planning on having a guest speaker.

We are always looking for new Greeters, so please come out and join us and visit with some of your Shrine Nobles and their Ladies.

Raffle for Wall Hangings

by Noble Steve Priest

Noble Steve Priest spent the last couple of years collecting El Korah Shrine patches, logos and emblems from old El Korah Unit and Club uniforms, jackets and shirts. Many are historic in nature since they are from organizations no longer in existence.

He asked the ladies of the Quilts of Valor to undertake a special project to sew them into quilt blocks and create two wall hangings, which they did for a "small" cost. Thank you ladies!

In support of Imperial Sir Rick Holloway's efforts to raise the seed money needed to hold a future Imperial Session in Boise when he becomes Imperial Potentate, a raffle will be held at the December 2027 Stated Meeting (next year) for these 4'x4' hangings. They will be raffled separately.

Raffle tickets cost $5 each or 5 for $20 and will be available at the Recorder's Office and the Scottish Rite Office. You can also contact Noble Steve for tickets (208) 869-1752.

Let's help Rick be a successful Imperial Potentate!

Daughters of the Nile

by Michelle Bollar, Princess Badoura

There is something special about this time of year as summer slowly gives way to fall. The mornings are crisp, the evenings are cooler, and we begin reaching for our favorite sweaters, scarves, and cozy hats. September has given us another opportunity to come together as a Temple family, enjoy fellowship with one another, and look forward to the many exciting activities and events that the coming fall and winter seasons have in store.

On September 19, members of Iras Temple No. 40, Daughters of the Nile, joined members of El Korah and other supporters for the 2026 Shriner's Walk for Love in Salt Lake City. It was a wonderful day filled with friendship, fellowship, and most importantly, love and support for the children we are so privileged to help.

The El Korah Shrine & Iras Temple team had 18 members participate in the walk and raised an incredible $1,045! In addition to those who walked, several other Iras Temple ladies were there helping at the Daughters of the Nile Foundation booth. According to the fundraising page, the event has raised $246,725 toward its $250,000 goal—an amazing accomplishment!

One of the most special parts of the day was seeing the children we lovingly support through Shriners Children's. Their smiling faces and joyful laughter were a wonderful reminder of why we do what we do. Seeing these children enjoying the day made every step of the walk worthwhile. How fortunate we are as a Temple to support both the Salt Lake City and Portland hospitals and the incredible work they do for children and their families.

Fall Activities Ahead

Fall is bustling with opportunities to come together, celebrate, and continue our work for the children.

We'll kick things off with Octoberfest on September 26, hosted by our talented Iras Temple Dancers. Tickets are available from any dancer, so be sure to get yours and join us for a fun evening!

Then, on October 9, the Guards will host their always-popular Bunco Night. Be sure to check the flyer for all the details.

On October 23, we will welcome our Supreme Queen for her Official Visit at the Scottish Rite Building. This will be a special opportunity to gather together and show our support for our Temple and the Daughters of the Nile.

Then, on October 24, lace up your walking shoes for the Annual Trick or Trot 1K and 5K at Kristin Armstrong Municipal Park—or participate virtually from wherever you are! Whether you walk, run, or join us from home, it is another wonderful way to support the children we serve.

Before we know it, November will be here! We'll begin the month with our Fashion Show on November 14, followed by a little holiday magic as we participate in the Boise Holiday Parade on November 28.

As we move into the months ahead, may we continue to enjoy the fellowship, friendships, and special moments that make Iras Temple so meaningful. Each event gives us another opportunity to come together, share our time and talents, and make a difference in the lives of the children we proudly support. Wishing each of you a wonderful fall season filled with laughter, friendship, and happy memories. I look forward to seeing you at our upcoming events and continuing this important work together!
